BETTER SIRES DAY IN BRAINERD ON MAY 10th

CHAMBER COMMERCE LAUNCHES DAIRY HERD IMPROVEMENT

25 PURE BRED BULLS TO BE APPORTIONED IN THE COUNTY

STOCK AWARDING, PARADE, JUDGING, ADDRESSES, ETC.

Saturday, May 10th, has been designated as "Better Sires Day" in Brainerd. It will be entirely in charge of the Chamber of Commerce and will launch that association's movement for the improvement of the dairy herds of this county. Twenty-five pure bred bulls, Holsteins and Guernseys, are to be apportioned among the farmers who are members of the Pure Bred Sire Association formed on the dairy improvement lines as planned by the Chamber of Commerce.

These various clubs will come to the city May 10th and their selected caretakers named will be awarded opportunities for the selection of animals. The man gaining first choice will of course have the whole herd of 25 to select from.

Following this will be stock judging by experts from the University of Minnesota and it will be of interest to the assemblage to see how the farmer's choice compares with the expert's judgment.

After each club has received its animal there will be a grand parade led by the Brainerd Boys band, covering the business section of the city. All the pure bred bulls will be guided by their caretakers, giving that section the appearance of a Waterloo, Iowa stock show.

Boy Scouts of Crow Wing county have been invited to take part in the parade, the two creameries of the city asked to have floats in line. The Echo Stock farm will have a display.

Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific railway company, has been asked to deliver the address of the day. County Agent E. G. Roth will also have representatives from the State Agricultural School give short talks.

A program has been prepared which is expected to bring to this city the largest representation of farmers in the history of Brainerd. Every effort is being made to make it a day of interest to all who attend. The whole county has been invited to visit Brainerd.

Invitations sent outside will be addressed commercial clubs, chambers of commerce, breeders' associations, dairy and agricultural writers of newspapers and farm journals, bankers and others interested in the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce experiment which awards these yearling bulls, without charge, to the various farmer associations formed and which feels itself well repaid, knowing the improvements planned in the dairy herds will benefit all in his territory.

Con O'Brien, in addition, has offered to loan five other farmers money at 5 per cent if they wish to purchase yearling pure bred bulls.

Fred .H Gruenhagen, president of the Chamber of Commerce and interested in the Echo stock farm, has a large Holstein herd, has sold no stock, the Chamber of Commerce making its purchase outside of Brainerd. Mr. Gruenhagen took this course so no farmer might say he was using his position as head of the Chamber of Commerce to advance his stock farm interests.

As this "Better Sires Day" will bring as many people to Brainerd as a regular convention, all necessary committees of the Chamber of Commerce have joined with the Pure Bred Sires committee to make it an assured successful day. No effort will be spared to give this day publicity, to bring to Brainerd the farmers, and especially others interested in this movement of having a whole community take an interest in the improvement of dairy herds.

The great subject these days is diversified farming, dairy improvement, etc. With some people, however, it gets no further than debates and wishes that the government do something for the farmer.

But in Brainerd, the Chamber of Commerce steps out and does the work. It's just an example of honest community effort. It shows our dependence on our neighbor and brings to the front that old truism, if the farmer prospers, than we'll all prosper.

The convention committee of the Chamber is taking it up with the restaurants to see if a regular dinner for the farmers cannot be provided at a uniform price. Just as soon as all restaurants are approached and signed up, the restaurants joining will be announced. It will mark a concession on their part to stimulate farmer trade and attendance in Brainerd on "Better Sires Day."

He was able to take food himself last night for the first time in several days, during which time he has been in a semi-conscious state.

Although he showed improvement, physicians were careful to state that his condition is still very serious.

PRE-CONVENTION CAMPAIGN IS IN ITS FINAL STAGES

HOW NATIONAL POLITICAL SITUATION SHAPES UP FOR BOTH PARTIES

COOLIDGE DELEGATES ESTIMATED TO NUMBER 825 TO 860

(By United Press)

Washington, May 1.—With most of the presidential primaries and conferences out of the way, the pre-convention campaign today entered its final phase in both parties.

It is just a little more than a month until the republican convention meets and two weeks beyond that the democrats will assemble.

Here is how the national political situation shapes up to observers at this point in the campaign:

Republicans

Mr. Coolidge's expectations of clinching his claim on the nomination at Cleveland were more than realized during April and he now has a total of delegates estimated at from 825 to 860, depending upon the estimator.

The few odd ones don't really matter. What is important is that he will go into the convention with a strangle hold on the nomination and not only that, but able to dictate the vice-presidential nominee and write the platform.

Hiram Johnson, utterly routed in his efforts to capture delegates within his own party can do nothing in the convention but try to voice his protest against conservative control of the party, and that probably will be howled down.

What Johnson then will do apparently is not yet determined although he has threatened to sever all connection with the party.

Democrats

Governor Al Smith of New York shot to the front towards the end and he appears as the outstanding democratic candidate while William Gibbs McAdoo suffered a serious blow in Massachusetts and Ohio.

Smith now has around 160 delegates pledged to him and eventually will control many more; and from now on his campaign will be carried on with his characteristic vigor.

Some observers today saw in James M. Cox's sweeping victory in Ohio over McAdoo an addition to the Smith strength on the theory that when the time comes to begin the switches that may determine the nominee, Cox will be likely to swing Ohio's 52 votes to Smith, but some of the Cox friends have reversed ideas—that Smith eventually will swing to Cox.

Smith is the only democratic candidate to show much progress during the past month, for while McAdoo was suffering his double setback, Underwood and Ralston were not doing anything to attract attention.

Third Party

Rumors and reports continue to be the chief result of efforts to find out just what the LaFollette third party movement will amount to.

It is pretty certain that LaFollette will not be an active campaigner, but that a campaign will be carried on in his name in a dozen states or more. Whether he and his progressive group will attempt seriously any part in the Cleveland convention, is doubtful.

ONE GETS SICK, ALL ARE VACCINATED

(By United Press)

St. Paul, May 1.—Half a dozen girls in the state board of control office were vaccinated today after one of their number became ill with smallpox.

POLICE BREAK UP COMMUNIST GATHERING

Berlin, May 1.—Police broke up an extensive gathering of communist May day demonstrators here today.

Heavily armed mounted and foot detachments swarmed through the Lustgarten near the former kaiser's palace, chasing the reds before them when an outbreak seemed imminent.

COAST GUARD CUTTER ALGONQUIN JOINS IN THE SEARCH

Cordova, Alaska, May 1.—Search of the icy wind-swept Unalaskan coast for Major Frederick L. Martin, commander of the American around the world airplane flight, began here today.

At 7 a. m. when no word had been received from the aviator since he hopped off from Chignik for Dutch Harbor at 11 a. m. yesterday, the search was ordered.

The coast guard cutter Algonquin patroling the coast between Chignik and Dutch Harbor along which Martin was to fly, radioed a request to Chignik for all boats of the salmon cannery fleet making headquarters there to take up the search.

They will cover the coast as far as Shumagin Island.

HE HOPPED OFF AND THEN GOT LOST

Cordova, Alaska, May 1. — Completing repairs on his plane, the Seattle, Major Frederick L. Martin has hopped off from Chignik.

His destination is Dutch Harbor where three companions have been waiting for two weeks. The American pilots probably will leave Dutch Harbor within two days.

TAXES MUST BE REDUCED, SAYS JACOBSON

CANDIDATE FOR REPUBLICAN NOMINATION FOR GOVERNOR MAKES SPEECH

STATE EXPENDITURES MORE THAN DOUBLED IN THE PAST TEN YEARS

(By United Press)

Minneapolis, May 1.—In his keynote speech as a candidate for the republican nomination for governor, O. P. B. Jacobson today asserted state taxes must be reduced.

State expenditures have more than doubled in the last ten years, he pointed out. He pledged himself to refuse approval of new legislative appropriation unless it shows a ten per cent decrease from the amount passed by the 1923 legislature.

"The way to reduce taxes is to reduce them," he said.

"This would mean a reduction of $4,000,000 for the biennium.

"Biennial appropriations from the general revenue fund have increased in the last ten years from $19,000,000 to $40,000,000. The cause of this lavish generosity is that the state tax this year is eight mills, every item of the levy being for the express purpose of caring for appropriations made from the general revenue fund by the 1923 session or from the road, school and other funds by sessions immediately prior thereto. The state may reduce its tax levy by reducing appropriations or by increasing its receipts from other sources of revenue. It cannot do so by continually increasing appropriations."

He urged a real re-organization of state departments to reduce costs.

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY REFERS TO ALLEGED INCIDENT IN FOLEY

KNUTSON DECLARES IT A DAMNABLE, MALICIOUS LIE

(By United Press)

Arlington, Va., May 1.—Commonwealth Attorney Glouth today sprung a surprise when the examination of Representative Harold Knutson of Minnesota, on trial for a serious statutory offense, was resumed.

Glouth asked Knutson whether a girl in a theatrical troupe playing the town of Foley, Minnesota, had lead him from her room in a hotel to the hotel clerk at the point of a gun and told the clerk: "Here's your future congressman. You had better take care of him or I will."

The incident as related by Glouth in his question to Knutson was supposed to have occurred in 1916 when Knutson was running for congress.

"That's a damnable, malicious lie," shouted Knutson in reply to Glouth's question.

"I never stopped in Foley hotel in my life. That story was put in your hands by my political opponents."

At the request of the defense the jury was taken to the point near Oak Crest, Va., where the arrest was made. Lawyers explained the position of the Knutson car and that of the arresting officers and other details. The case will probably be closed this afternoon.

On Wednesday

Harold Knutson, giving testimony yesterday, described the automobile ride taken on Arlington road, declaring he was arrested under no unusual circumstances.

Hull was examined and did not change his denial of the charges made.

Character witnesses were introduced in behalf of Knutson. These included Representatives Clague of Minnesota, Montague of Virginia, Upshaw of Georgia.

NUMBER INJURED IS OVER 500, PROPERTY LOSS IS TEN MILLION

IN SOME PLACES STORM WRECKED ENTIRE SETTLEMENTS

(By United Press)

Atlanta, Ga., May 1.—The death toll from the storm which swept a swath 1,000 miles long, through four southern states, mounted steadily today as the reports of casualties in communities isolated by the tornado came dwindling in.

The total number of dead is expected to reach nearly 100. Ninety-five were known dead today.

The number of injured will exceed 500. Property damage is in excess of $10,000,000.

One house at Opelika, Alabama, was blown to splinters but its five occupants escaped injury.

Two women were seated talking on the porch of another home a short distance away. One of them was picked up, carried 300 feet and her body dashed against a building. The other remained seated in her chair uninjured by the twister.

The winds reached the height of their fury in South Carolina, having gained headway in advancing from the Mississippi states. The death list in South Carolina totaled 66.

Large buildings were crushed before the gale. Men and women were picked up off the street, carried 200 yards or more and dashed to the ground. Alabama had 11 deaths, North Carolina three, Georgia four and scattered deaths were reported from Tennessee, Louisiana and Mississippi.

In some places entire settlements were wrecked. Huge homes and public buildings in small villages were leveled.

Sweeping a path about a mile and a half wide in South Carolina, the storm within half an hour ruined the richest agricultural section of the state. Timber, fruit trees, regular crops, old colonial homes, everything went down in the trail of the twister. Seventeen were killed in the vicinity of Camden, South Carolina. Seven negro women and children met death when six houses on a plantation near Camden were blown to splinters.

When the storm recahed North Carolina, although it had abated somewhat, it still had power to do considerable damage. Two children were hurt in Charlotte, 25 in Rocky Mount, three killed and eight hurt at Durham, and four were injured with property loss estimated at $20,000 in Richmond, Va.

Kansas City, Mo., May 1.—Five men were killed and 10 burned, several perhaps fatally, when an oil tank at the Interstate refinery here exploded today.

The cause of the explosion was not determined. Fire followed the blast and for a time threatened the entire manufacturing district.

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY REFERS TO ALLEGED INCIDENT IN FOLEY

KNUTSON DECLARES IT A DAMNABLE, MALICIOUS LIE

(By United Press)

Arlington, Va., May 1.—Commonwealth Attorney Glouth today sprung a surprise when the examination of Representative Harold Knutson of Minnesota, on trial for a serious statutory offense, was resumed.

Glouth asked Knutson whether a girl in a theatrical troupe playing the town of Foley, Minnesota, had lead him from her room in a hotel to the hotel clerk at the point of a gun and told the clerk: "Here's your future congressman. You had better take care of him or I will."

The incident as related by Glouth in his question to Knutson was supposed to have occurred in 1916 when Knutson was running for congress.

"That's a damnable, malicious lie," shouted Knutson in reply to Glouth's question.

"I never stopped in Foley hotel in my life. That story was put in your hands by my political opponents."

At the request of the defense the jury was taken to the point near Oak Crest, Va., where the arrest was made. Lawyers explained the position of the Knutson car and that of the arresting officers and other details. The case will probably be closed this afternoon.

On Wednesday

Harold Knutson, giving testimony yesterday, described the automobile ride taken on Arlington road, declaring he was arrested under no unusual circumstances.

Hull was examined and did not change his denial of the charges made.

Character witnesses were introduced in behalf of Knutson. These included Representatives Clague of Minnesota, Montague of Virginia, Upshaw of Georgia.

JULIUS SCHMAHL FILES FOR GOVERNOR

St. Paul, May 1.—Julius Schmahl, former secretary of state, filed today for the republican nomination for governor.

Since retiring from office in 1921, Schmahl has been engaged in the banking business. He is now president of the Cosmopolitan State bank and is the fifth candidate to file on the republican side of the gubernatorial contest.

NUMBER INJURED IS OVER 500, PROPERTY LOSS IS TEN MILLION

IN SOME PLACES STORM WRECKED ENTIRE SETTLEMENTS

(By United Press)

Atlanta, Ga., May 1.—The death toll from the storm which swept a swath 1,000 miles long, through four southern states, mounted steadily today as the reports of casualties in communities isolated by the tornado came dwindling in.

The total number of dead is expected to reach nearly 100. Ninety-five were known dead today.

The number of injured will exceed 500. Property damage is in excess of $10,000,000.

One house at Opelika, Alabama, was blown to splinters but its five occupants escaped injury.

Two women were seated talking on the porch of another home a short distance away. One of them was picked up, carried 300 feet and her body dashed against a building. The other remained seated in her chair uninjured by the twister.

The winds reached the height of their fury in South Carolina, having gained headway in advancing from the Mississippi states. The death list in South Carolina totaled 66.

Large buildings were crushed before the gale. Men and women were picked up off the street, carried 200 yards or more and dashed to the ground. Alabama had 11 deaths, North Carolina three, Georgia four and scattered deaths were reported from Tennessee, Louisiana and Mississippi.

In some places entire settlements were wrecked. Huge homes and public buildings in small villages were leveled.

Sweeping a path about a mile and a half wide in South Carolina, the storm within half an hour ruined the richest agricultural section of the state. Timber, fruit trees, regular crops, old colonial homes, everything went down in the trail of the twister. Seventeen were killed in the vicinity of Camden, South Carolina. Seven negro women and children met death when six houses on a plantation near Camden were blown to splinters.

When the storm recahed North Carolina, although it had abated somewhat, it still had power to do considerable damage. Two children were hurt in Charlotte, 25 in Rocky Mount, three killed and eight hurt at Durham, and four were injured with property loss estimated at $20,000 in Richmond, Va.

GROVER CLEVELAND BERGDOLL NOT HERE

GERMAN LINER IN NEW YORK SEARCHED FOR SUPPOSED PASSENGER

(By United Press)

New York, May 1.—Despite rumors and official notification from the war department, Grover Cleveland Bergdoll was not aboard the Columbus, North German Lloyd liner, which arrived from Germany.

The ship was met by officers upon arrival in quarantine. Captain N. Johnson and Philip Heineken, president of the steamship company, ordered every passenger presented. Early today Colonel John L. Bond from the barracks at Governors Island with a group of men, searched the vessel. After a search of more than an hour, Colonel Bond announced he was certain Bergdoll was not aboard.

Flea's Wonderful Eyesight

Fleas have far better sight than men. A German scientist who has been investigating fleas makes this disclosure, saying their sight is so sharp that when a man is sleeping at night under a blanket in a darkened room his body glows to a flea as brightly as a red-hot stove appears to a man in a darkened room.

Man is far behind many animals in both sight and hearing, the scientist finds; the human ear catches only a small percentage of the myriad tone waves and as human eyes do not react to ultra-violet beams much is lost to man which reaches eyes of a lower order.

Earwig Becomes Nuisance

The European earwig, introduced to this country from Europe where it is very common, has multiplied here so rapidly that it has become quite a pest, especially in Washington, Oregon and Rhode Island. The Department of Agriculture is experimenting with two parasites of the earwig with a view of checking the spread of the nuisance to other parts of the country. Chickens devour earwigs ravenously, but the insects are so hidden during the day that fowls can hardly be considered as an important factor in controlling them. Toads eat them rapidly. Poison baits and sprays furnish other means of control.

About Ants

Among certain ants the ant hills fall into decay and degenerate females are produced when the parasites from which the ants obtain their intoxicants become very numerous.

There are so many things you'll like about JAP ROSE SOAP. Its quick, abundant lather; its solubility and the thorough way it rinses. Most satisfying for complexion, shampoo and bath.—Adv. 1t

Paris Passes on Mode for Spring

Plaits Are in Favor; Skirts Shorter; Dresses Have Matching Coats.

After years of scarcely perceptible changes last season brought about a radical modification in the outline of dress. The two parallel lines which constitute the feminine silhouette broadened slightly toward the bottom to form the shaped skirt. The same contour characterizes the spring mode, even slimmer than before and distinctly shorter, and it is only in the details of the costume that any appreciable departure from the previous season can be noted, asserts a Paris fashion writer in the New York Tribune. The Patou models are an exemplification of the artistry of the designer, diversifying the unchanged line with an adept manipulation of flounce, plait and panel.

Skirts have been decidedly shortened—their average length varies from ten to twelve inches above the ground. In combination with the simple line of the skirt these short lengths endow the wearer with the appearance of a sixteen-year-old girl—at least when viewed from the back.

In the Patou spring collection are three basic keynotes. First, there is the shaped flounce, which preserves its preponderant role in the formal evening gown—it becomes more complicated, it tapers, it undulates—but it remains the outstanding feature of this type of dress.

Plaits in Limelight.

Second, and of greatest importance, are plaits. The plaited dress in all its forms is a distinct manifestation of the season and finds varied expression in the tailor-made costume, the summer frock and in dresses for the seaside and spa. Patou has placed marked emphasis upon novel plaitings and they are used in numberless ways on frocks, cloaks and jackets, even for linings.

The amalgamation of the plaited form with the shaped form will in all probability lead to a return to the fashions of the 1887-'90 period. But "les elegantes" may be reassured; they will not be transformed into modern de Maupassant heroines, for the return to the '80s will be highly modernized. The shaped flounce will diminish in size, but in order to give it volume it will be plaited. On long, simple tunics it amplifies the lower part of the silhouette—a forecast of the fashions of tomorrow.

The third fundamental characteristic of the Patou showing is the ensemble—a combination of ingenious outlines with harmonizing or soft blending colors. It is an inseparable whole, the final theme of innumerable variations, and is particularly noteworthy in sports frocks, afternoon gowns and evening robes, most of which are combined with a cloak intended to be worn as an integral part of the costume.

The ensembles du soir chez Patou are very lovely. The long evening wraps are richly embroidered or trimmed with costly furs such as sable and chinchilla and the dresses are equally beautiful. One model shows a gown of green artificial satin elaborately embroidered in gold, silver and copper threads. The wrap is black and is lined with the green satin of the gown.

Cape of Red Velvet.

Another shows a cape developed in a beautiful shade of bright red velvet with a huge collar of chinchilla fur, and a dress of crepe romaine in the same vivid red. The cascading panel at the left side is ornamented with a spray of paradise dyed to match the dress. A very striking ensemble shows a green velvet wrap with a sable collar and a dress of gold net, embroidered in turquoise blue and gold beads and gold and old rose threads.

The range of spring and summer afternoon gowns is much more extensive than that for winter wear. This year the three-piece gown has disappeared from the salons of Patou. It has been replaced by the tailored gown and by the afternoon ensemble consisting of a dress and coat especially designed to be worn together. Plaiting, the inevitable method of ornamentation, is the principal trimming note on this type of costume.

Nearly all the tailored suits rely upon plaiting in some form for their elaboration. Stitched plaits in band form, side plaits forming panels, wide, inverted plaits stitched three-quarters of their length and then allowed to hang freely, and box plaits are noteworthy. Plaits are also used as a trimming for jackets, and the same idea is carried out in the skirt.

The sports costume has attained a position of primary importance in the modes of spring and summer. The models of Patou are always very simple and chic, principally because of the character of the materials. Particularly adapted to tennis are skirts with multiple plaits worn with sweaters in frisotta—a new and very successful fabric, the richness of whose tints is very pleasing to the eye under the glare of the summer sun. Other sports costumes in more neutral and duller tones are carried out in English cheviots and men's woolen suitings.

Leather is the predominant fabric for motor cloaks and the newest models are developed in bright shades of red and blue.

New Necklines.

The lack of variety in the spring silhouette has thrown the burden of the new mode upon the details of dress, which, as a consequence, know no restraining mandates. The neckline in particular has been subjected to varied manipulations by the leading designers of Paris.

Chanel shows a decided change in the neckline—a departure from the bateau form. In fact, she entirely neglects this type. In her collection are many round necklines, particularly in evening dresses, the back being cut much deeper than the front, frequently to below the shoulder blades.

In daytime dresses the soft, rolling collar is much featured by this designer—a contrast to the long, revers-like shawl collars which appear on her jumper sports dresses. On afternoon frocks of crepe de chine or printed mousseline the slightly rounding neckline is headed by a narrow band of the material which ties on the left shoulder, center front or half-way between, according to the cut of the dress.

The bateau neckline is also non grata with Agnes, whose every model exploits a collar, or at least a suggestion thereof. Most of these collars are small and round and of the lingerie type. Organdie, linen and silk are the fabrics employed.

Georgette and Patou are nonpartisan. The short, round line, the bateau neck and the V neckline are treated with equal impartiality in these collections. Jenny also varies the line, but shows a marked tendency toward the V cut, particularly in blouses.

The scarf, of course, is the piece de resistance of the spring neckline. In the collection of Chanel this decorative note is unusually significant. Almost every evening gown has its accompanying scarf, always of the same material, and varying in length from the short, stubby scarf to the long and flowing type. Only in a few instances does it form an inseparable part of the dress. An evening gown of black lace with round decolletage shows the scarf drawn across the front and attached at each shoulder, while the ends are allowed to hang freely. A cluster of pink roses is placed on either shoulder where the scarf is attached.

The spring collection of one prominent French designer emphasizes strongly the straight and slender silhouette. All models show extremely straight backs and in nearly every instance an unbroken line from shoulder to hem. With a few exceptions, all ornamentation appears in the front, and any suggestion of a waistline is given through the hanging of shirred, finely plaited or tiny tucked apron fronts or flowing panels. In such instances the waistline is low, but the dress proper very straight, tight-fitting and short, seemingly appropriate only for the most slender, youthful figure. In daytime dresses, whether of wool or silk, the sleeves, which are set in, are long and tight-fitting and in most cases entirely plain.

Taking Her Chance on "The Hook"

By JUSTIN WENTWOOD

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

NAN stood in the wings, paralyzed with astonishment and terror. She did not know what to do.

Carsfield had told her there would be ten dollars in it for her, and she needed that ten so badly. Nan was only a factory girl, and her little income was swallowed up by the needs of her sick mother. Ten dollars would pay the druggist's debt and enable her to buy more from him. A paltry thing—but how much it meant to her! Ten dollars—a fortune!

Nan had always dreamed of becoming a great singer. She had a sweet, low contralto voice. Properly trained, she would have made something of a hit, although she could never have risen to the very first rank of singers. And she had pestered Carsfield until he had promised to let her try her voice on amateur night in the suburban theater.

And Nan had had not the least idea of the spirit of rowdyism that prevailed. She had no idea that these unfortunate men and girls, all just as eager as herself for recognition, became objects of buffoonery for the sake of their paltry stipend.

But, standing in the wings, she had heard the uproarious merriment of the audience. She had seen Big Tim, a wide grin on his face, standing near by with the huge hook in his hands. Nina Schloss, one of the girls, had gone on, with a white face and desperate light in her eyes. The audience had listened to her quavering voice for thirty seconds.

"Git the hook! Git the hook!" they had yelled.

And Nina, embraced by the implement in the hands of Big Tim, had been dragged protesting off the stage. She had stood in the wings and turned on Big Tim defiantly.

"So that's the way you treat us girls—"

"Aw, fergit it! Go and git yore ten-spot!" muttered Big Tim.

Nan saw Cohen, the proprietor, smiling near by. It was great sport to Cohen. Amateur night could always be relied upon to draw a crowd.

And her turn was coming. It was awful! She would have given everything in the world to have been able to flee.

"Next! Next number!" yelled the audience.

"Go on, Miss Perry," said Cohen, shifting the cigar in his mouth.

Nan looked at him imploringly. The racket was increasing. Could she face it?

"Well, Miss Perry, they're waiting for you," said Cohen, and Big Tim shifted the hook in his hands and grinned.

Nan drew a deep breath and then stepped out of the wings on to the stage. She saw a sea of faces. She saw the ripple of mirth that convulsed it.

Nevertheless, at the sight of the slender, girlish figure a momentary silence ensued. Nan thought of her sick mother. She turned and faced them. She bowed. And she began to sing.

It was a simple ballad that she had chosen. It was "Annie Laurie." The audience, unaccustomed to anything of that sort, listened uncomfortably for a moment. Then, in her excitement, Nan let her voice quaver.

"Git the hook! Git the hook!"

The roar went up from the entire audience. Nan glanced desperately toward the wings. She saw Big Tim standing there, a grin on his face, and Cohen behind him. And the hook was coming, coming relentlessly toward her. . . .

Suddenly Nan felt herself possessed by a spirit of defiance. She would show these people! As the hook approached Nan stepped away—away beyond the utmost reach of Big Tim. The audience went wild with delight.

"Hook her!"

"No, give the kid a chance! Open your face, kid! Let's hear it!"

And then Nan sang as she had never sung before. For a moment or two she was in doubt—then she saw that somehow she had captured them. She had bent their will to hers. As she ended a roar of applause swept the theatre.

"Encore! Another!"

She sang again and again, while Cohen listened, stupefied, in the wings. Eight times—and then she found herself in the wings again and Cohen holding her hands.

"Great, great!" he stuttered. "You come with me. I wantcha to sign a contract for two years at one hundred per. Gee, I know a find when I got one!"

In the house the audience was still bellowing for an encore.

One for Boston

The first day at school a little girl presented herself who looked very much like a true daughter of Italy.

"You're an Italian?" asked the teacher.

"No'm," was the astonishing reply.

"But wasn't your father born in Italy?"

"Yes'm."

"And wasn't your mother born in Italy?"

"Yes—"

"Well, you must be an Italian."

"No'm," she answered; "I'm Irish I was born in Boston."

Incas Use Coca Leaves When on Long Jaunts

When the Spaniards first came to the highlands of South Africa they found many strange things being done by the couple of million inhabitants who lived all the way from what is now Ecuador to the northern part of Chile. These people smelted copper, wove cloth, built houses of heavy masonry, embalmed dead bodies and used gold for household cooking, eating and drinking vessels. This last was their undoing, for while they put a value on gold only as something to use like any other metal, the Spaniards prized it as we do and went crazy over it.

These people had a large sheep they used for packing, but it was too small for a riding animal and not very swift, so all the swift errands were performed by runners. It is said that the Inca king each day ate fresh fish caught from the sea and hurried to him by relays of fast runners. Incredible records were made by these men, who had been trained from infancy almost to run.

The high altitude develops huge lung power after generations have been bred in it, but for you and me it makes for short-windedness. But the people who are born and brought up in the rarefied air are short and stocky and with very large lungs. They lived in a country ranging from 10,000 to 14,000 feet high with mountains running up at intervals to over 22,000 feet.

All were—and are yet—inveterate users of coca. This is leaves from the tree of the plant from which cocain is extracted. For long feats of endurance they took a small package of these leaves and constantly kept a wad of them in their mouths wrapped around a small bit of unslaked lime to free the cocain and other alkaloids contained in the coca leaves.

One American doctor who investigated the subject and wrote a large book on it and a famous American writer (Doctor Monzans) claim that cocain used in this fashion appears to free great reserves of strength and is not attended with the pernicious results following use of the drug cocain, which has not the balancing chemicals found in the entire leaf. Be that as it may, the Indian runners and packers used and still use this leaf when on their long jaunts.—Adventure Magazine.

Secret Service Tells How to Detect "Raised" Bills

The raising of United States currency above its face value by unscrupulous individuals has become so general during the past few years that the secret service has issued a general warning to all who handle large sums of money to give close watch to all currency accepted. Hotels, banks and merchants are generally the ones who receive most of the raised money.

Ninety per cent of the money in circulation in the United States is in the form of federal reserve bank notes. Ninety-five per cent of the raised currency in circulation is in these same notes. Crooks succeed in changing the figures and the letters, but they can't change the portraits. If bank tellers, department store cashiers, railroad ticket sellers and others who handle large sums of money would memorize the portraits which appear on the different denominations of federal reserve bank notes there would be very little passing of raised currency. This ought to be easy because the portraits which appear on these bills are ones which everyone remembers from school days. They are: On the $1 federal reserve bank note, Washington; on a $2, Jefferson; $5, Lincoln; $10, Jackson; $20, Cleveland; $50, Grant; $100, Franklin.

Lives of High and Low Influenced by Figures

A book published recently draws attention to a remarkable table that Seddon, the poisoner, compiled, showing how the number 13 influenced him all through his life.

Murderers seem to be particularly subject to the malign influence of figures. Crippen's unlucky number was 48, and Charles Peace, was evilly influenced by 7.

The Bible is full of references to the potency of certain figures, notably 3 and 7, while both Oliver Cromwell and Napoleon had sincere convictions regarding the luck-bringing propensities of certain numerals.

In connection with this superstition there is the well-authenticated story that the famous Italian charlatan, Count Cagliostro, based his famous prediction concerning Marie Antoinette's excution and Josephine's elevation to empress by a calculation based on the number of letters in their names.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

All were—and are yet—inveterate users of coca. This is leaves from the tree of the plant from which cocain is extracted. For long feats of endurance they took a small package of these leaves and constantly kept a wad of them in their mouths wrapped around a small bit of unslaked lime to free the cocain and other alkaloids contained in the coca leaves.

One American doctor who investigated the subject and wrote a large book on it and a famous American writer (Doctor Monzans) claim that cocain used in this fashion appears to free great reserves of strength and is not attended with the pernicious results following use of the drug cocain, which has not the balancing chemicals found in the entire leaf. Be that as it may, the Indian runners and packers used and still use this leaf when on their long jaunts.—Adventure Magazine.

The raising of United States currency above its face value by unscrupulous individuals has become so general during the past few years that the secret service has issued a general warning to all who handle large sums of money to give close watch to all currency accepted. Hotels, banks and merchants are generally the ones who receive most of the raised money.

Ninety per cent of the money in circulation in the United States is in the form of federal reserve bank notes. Ninety-five per cent of the raised currency in circulation is in these same notes. Crooks succeed in changing the figures and the letters, but they can't change the portraits. If bank tellers, department store cashiers, railroad ticket sellers and others who handle large sums of money would memorize the portraits which appear on the different denominations of federal reserve bank notes there would be very little passing of raised currency. This ought to be easy because the portraits which appear on these bills are ones which everyone remembers from school days. They are: On the $1 federal reserve bank note, Washington; on a $2, Jefferson; $5, Lincoln; $10, Jackson; $20, Cleveland; $50, Grant; $100, Franklin.

Lives of High and Low Influenced by Figures

A book published recently draws attention to a remarkable table that Seddon, the poisoner, compiled, showing how the number 13 influenced him all through his life.

Murderers seem to be particularly subject to the malign influence of figures. Crippen's unlucky number was 48, and Charles Peace, was evilly influenced by 7.

The Bible is full of references to the potency of certain figures, notably 3 and 7, while both Oliver Cromwell and Napoleon had sincere convictions regarding the luck-bringing propensities of certain numerals.

In connection with this superstition there is the well-authenticated story that the famous Italian charlatan, Count Cagliostro, based his famous prediction concerning Marie Antoinette's excution and Josephine's elevation to empress by a calculation based on the number of letters in their names.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

TAX EXEMPT SECURITIES

TAX exempt securities is what is causing the increase of taxation; and improvements desired by many municipalities, counties, school boards, etc., react on the nation at large by piling up the accumulation of tax exempt securities which are eagerly bought up by the wealthy and which in return take so much active money out of the transportation, manufacturing and other actual producing fields, which in turn formerly gave employment to labor.

All we are doing with the tax exempt securities is to pile up idle wealth which in the end, we are all paying for. It will eventually drain the country of all productive initiative.

In his first message to congress, President Coolidge said: "Another reform which is urgent in our fiscal system is abolition of the right to issue tax exempt securities. The existing system not only permits a large amount of wealth of the nation to escape its just burden, but acts as a continual stimulant to municipal extravagance."

And municipal extravagance, in many cases throughout the nation, is a direct cause of high taxes.

RADIO MAKES US NEIGHBORS

USING WSAI, 309 meter length, a whole minstrel show was broadcast Monday starting at 8:15 p. m., by the United States Playing Card Co., which performed such service for the Newport, Kentucky, Lodge No. 273, of the B. P. O. Elks. These Elks give the proceeds of this annual minstrel show to the Catholic Orphanage, Protestant Orphanage, Speers Memorial Hospital and Sisters of the Good Shepherd of Newport.

Brainerd Elks quickly tuned in and heard the show. It was interesting also to hear the announcements made of messages received from all over the United States, stating they liked the show and making other comments. Radio listeners wired in responses while the show was in progress and these were read from the stage and in turn heard by the radio fans who sent them.

The only trouble encountered, we believe, was that some of the radio fans sent in their appreciations by wire, but forgot to send the messages prepaid. It would swamp the Kentucky brothers if called upon to pay tolls on all messages not prepaid.

OUR SOUTH AMERICAN INTERESTS GROW

OUR South American interests continue to grow. Nearly four billion dollars has been invested in the Central and South American countries by American citizens, according to the department of commerce, which states that the great interest in Latin America is largely a growth of the past 10 years. Prior to 1904 Latin America was almost an unknown land to many Americans.

Today manufacturers and merchants, bankers and investors, ship owners and operators, travelers, educators and students, are all looking for information on Latin American affairs. The movement of trade is doing much to cement better relations with our neighbors to the south, who in the past were sometimes obsessed with the idea that the United States wished to assimilate them all.

MOISTURE THANKFULLY RECEIVED

THE Brainerd Lake Region has received a little moisture the latter part of April in the shape of some snow and more rain, all of which is most thankfully added to its lakes and has assisted to slightly increase lake levels. The lakes are one of the great assets of this section.

With low levels, weeds and rushes choke up thoroughfares; bathing beaches are damaged; cottages and resorts feel the influence; fish life is threatened.

The reduction of discharge at the Gull lake dam will also do its quota to increase lake level heights in that vicinity.

ALASKAN DEVELOPMENT

THE development of Alaska, a subject uppermost in the mind of President Harding when he died, proceeds without interruption. An air mail route from the southern coast into the interior is being plotted that will reduce to hours a journey that formerly took as many days.

A party is now in the northern part of Alaska ready to start a summer's exploration of that little known section, and determine the oil and other resources that it contains. Bookings for summer tourist travel on the Alaska raliroad exceeds all previous records.

WHEN GOLF SPEAKS OUT LOUD

GOLF is an ardent mistress. When she speaks, she speaks in no uncertain tones. Here, for instance, is Bobby Jones, national open champion, who has abandoned his plans to marry on June 4 in order to defend his title at the Oakland Hills Golf club in June in Detroit. It will be his last match as a single man, says Mr. Jones.

JOCK DRYBURGH

JOCK DRYBURGH is well known to local golfers. He laid out the links of the Brainerd Country club and started many players on their golf career. He was in the Twin Cities a period after leaving Brainerd and has now accepted the engagement of taking charge of the course of the Valley City, N. D., club. Jock, however, will return to the Twin Cities to compete in the state open tournament and The Minneapolis Journal match play championship.

THIS is the season of the year when the perennial candidate writes a letter to a newspaper, sends his cut and record and asks for a lot of free space. One candidate acknowledged that space grafting is a reprehensible crime, he inveighed against such a practice and after he got through with the subject in his letter, he also enclosed his obituary, his boiler plate picture, etc., all to be run free. The country needs saving at times, but why a newspaper should be singled out to give up valuable space without recompense, no one seems to know. The candidate has to pay for all other things, and why should he expect free newspaper space.

'GAS TAX' TO CARRY BY LARGE MAJORITY

HIGHWAY USERS TO SEE THAT ANY GASOLINE LEVY GOES FOR MORE GOOD ROADS

A 5-to-1 vote in favor of the proposed 'gas tax' at the Minnesota election next November is predicted by Ernest T. Winship, president of the State Automobile association. His statement follows the recent ruling by Attorney General Clifford L. Hilton that inasmuch as the legislature already has power to levy a tax on gasoline, the gas tax proposal is only to put into the state highway fund instead of that to pay general state expenses the receipts of the gasoline tax if one is imposed by the lawmakers.

"While many automobile club members may not be ready to subscribe to a proposition of adding a gas tax to the present tax on motor vehicles," said Mr. Winship, "I believe it safe to say that every one wants every cent he pays on his car to be used to extend good roads—not to go for general state expenses."

For that reason, the president of the state automobile association, predicted that the owners of the 500,000 cars and trucks in the state and every highway user will vote as a unit to adopt the gas tax amendment.

"The situation," continued Mr. Winship, "as I understand it, is this:

"The attorney general advises that the legislature already has authority to levy a gas tax, if it sees fit, and the only effect of the gas tax vote will be to decide whether the money will be used for roads or for general expenses—not whether a gas tax shall be levied.

"Thirty-six states already have the gas tax and all the others with the possible exception of Illinois probably will have it within a year or two. That includes Minnesota because it can add $500,000 now and perhaps $1,000,000 within a few years to its annual highway fund by simply taxing the gasoline used by the hundred thousands of tourists here every summer. That would be only asking them to reciprocate—Minnesota would have to act in self-protection. So the only thing for highways users to do is to see that the gas tax is diverted to more good roads, and then fight for the other things we consider right."

GIRL WINS $2,000 FROM STEPFATHER IN INSURANCE SUIT

St. Paul, May 1.—Nuggett M. Burke, 19, cashier at Trocke's cafeteria, won $2,000 by a verdict of a Ramsey county jury last night.

Miss Burke sued her stepfather, Daniel E. Bay, for the $2,000 insurance money due following the death of her mother.

The jury was out five minutes.

The insurance policy originally was made out with Miss Burke as sole beneficiary. After the marriage of the mother, the policy was changed to make the daughter and Mr. Bay equal beneficiaries.

A little later, it is alleged, Mrs. Bay changed her policy again, making her daughter sole beneficiary.

Five days before her death, June 9, 1923, at Clayton, Wis., a change back to the double beneficiary was made. Miss Burke charged undue influence was used.

A real American boy in a real American story and a real reel actor is Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., who made a highly successful screen debut at the Lyceum Theatre last night in the Paramount picture, "Stephen Steps Out." The photoplay, which was exceptionally well suited to the display of young Fairbanks' talents as player, is based on the story, "The Grand Cross of the Crescent," by Richard Harding Davis. Oddity of the Law Permits Fights But Bars Pictures

The laws of our sovereign states and of the federal government are filled with strange contradictions and confusions. One of the instances is the regulation of boxing contests.

The game is permitted by law in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois, for example. Motion pictures may be taken of any contest, as far as the law is concerned, and may be shown in any public place. But—and there is the joker—fight pictures may not be transported from one state to another.

For the benefit of those who were not able to witness the fight at Shelby, a perfectly law-abiding picture has been arranged. It shows the buzzing life of the little Montana town previous to the fight; the training quarters of the two gladiators; the charming home life of Gibbons with his wife and two boys; the picturesque characters connected with the vast undertaking; the giant arena that cost a king's ransom and sold for a song—it shows everything connected with the fight except the fight itself.

"Dempsey and Gibbons at Shelby," a four-reel attraction will be shown here at the New Park last time tonight.

Cat Protected One Hundred Chickens

Robert B. Stiles

One night last spring, "Midnight," our small black cat, sought a quite place for a well-earned rest. Finding that two bricks had been pushed out from the foundation, she crept into a shed where slept one hundred five-weeks-old chicks. These were the best on the farm, kept apart from the other six hundred, to be used for breeding next year.

Later the same night, Mr. Skunk decided he would have a good meal. He likewise discovered the hole in the wall.

It is Mr. Skunk's custom to eat a few chickens and slaughter many; for that reason the loss is usually great.

This time our visitor "reckoned without his host." A sharp battle took place in which Midnight was victorious. Mr. Skunk lost his appetite and crept off. For days the shed was an unpleasant place to enter. However, not a single chick was harmed.

Our cat seemed dearer than ever, although for a week, except at her meal-time, she politely kept her distance.—Our Dumb Animals.

'GAS TAX' TO CARRY BY LARGE MAJORITY

HIGHWAY USERS TO SEE THAT ANY GASOLINE LEVY GOES FOR MORE GOOD ROADS

A 5-to-1 vote in favor of the proposed 'gas tax' at the Minnesota election next November is predicted by Ernest T. Winship, president of the State Automobile association. His statement follows the recent ruling by Attorney General Clifford L. Hilton that inasmuch as the legislature already has power to levy a tax on gasoline, the gas tax proposal is only to put into the state highway fund instead of that to pay general state expenses the receipts of the gasoline tax if one is imposed by the lawmakers.

"While many automobile club members may not be ready to subscribe to a proposition of adding a gas tax to the present tax on motor vehicles," said Mr. Winship, "I believe it safe to say that every one wants every cent he pays on his car to be used to extend good roads—not to go for general state expenses."

JUNIORS IN GAY CARNIVAL

Despite Inclement Weather, Hundreds Attended High School Fair

ASSEMBLY ROOM WAS TAXED

All the Booths and Side Shows Did a Flourishing Business

Now that the Junior Carnival is over, the Juniors can again breathe freely and ease their minds from the heavy weight of money matters! Despite the inclement weather, hundreds of people attended the affair and when the "main show" was given, the assembly was taxed to its capacity. Every number on the program was genuinely appreciated by the audience, some selections having to be given a second time.

All the booths and side-shows did a flourishing business, especially that of the main refreshment booth which was presided over by Eunice Johnson and Wally Engbretson. And oh, that beauty parlor! The Romaine girls, Marion and Nina, seemed to have beautified everyone at the carnival, even the black eyes did not have a damaging effect on the faces of the victims.

The people fairly flocked to see "Mr. and Mrs. Tom Thumb," in which the Misses Elizabeth Folsom, Gertrude Goedderz, Bernice White, Gladys McKenna, and Daisy Backen held full sway.

The main attraction up in the gym seemed to be the "Junior Melody Makers" orchestra, which occupied a beautifully decorated stage in the center of the floor. True to their form they fairly out did themselves in producing peppy music and when their tired fingers finally quit playing, the spell cast on the listeners was broken and as the hour was already late, most all were content to go home.

On every side, various attractions were heralded by the tooting of horns, squaking of balloons and shouting voices. Every fish was fished from Margaret Anderson's fish pond, while every kiss in the kissing parlor, kept by Aileen King disappeared as if by magic.

Marion Bachelder and Bee Murphy, in a tempting atmosphere of ham, eggs, bacon, etc., sold hot dogs and buns to a hungry crowd of revelers.

Albert Rathert in Jewish costume let people "ring" his sticks and gave them a souvenir card in exchange. His booth seemed to be the most attractive to the men and boys. Other attractions that were well patronized were the boxing match, China Town, Shadow Views, Toyland, Photograph Gallery, Trip to Mars Palm Reader, Japanese tea room.

Vernon Dieckhaus made a stern, august, yet kind judge, who let the offenders, brought in by Policeman, Mittie Bergstrand, off with comparatively small fines.

Everything was appropriately decorated and the confetti that was scattered far and wide, made it take on a truly festive appearance.

The class wishes to thank everyone that aided in any way, however small, to make the carnival the success that it was.

$2,000,000 HOTEL SOON TO BE BUILT

St. Paul, May 1—The Minnesota Hotel corporation has closed terms for a 99-year lease on the southwest corner of 6th and Sibley streets.

Although A. L. Reed, administrator of the estate, who handled the transaction, refused to detail plans for improvement, it became known that plans are already drafted for a 400-room hotel, which would cost more than $2,000,000.

The Minnesota Hotel corporation is incorporated under the laws of Delaware. Its officials refused to discuss their plans, but admit there will be a "large improvement program on the property, which is only two blocks from the St. Paul Union depot, and faces upon Smith park.

The property extends 125 feet on Sibley street, and 130 feet on 6th street.

Negotiations have been under way to obtain the lease for more than a year, it was revealed this morning.

BABY CHICKS ARE NO VEGETARIANS

St. Paul, May 1.—Baby chicks are not vegetarians.

This has been proven conclusively by experiments at the Minnesota Experiment Station, University Farm, St. Paul.

They must have animal food of some kind for they will not do well on grains, greens and minerals.

The results of the experiments with chicks of the same breeding and from the same hatch were:

Pens which were fed no beef scrap showed a mortality of 82 per cent at the end of 12 weeks.

Pens in which 10 per cent of beef scraps was added to the ration showed a death rate of 53.4 per cent.

Pens in which 20 per cent of beef scrap was allowed showed a death rate of 51.9 per cent.

Pens in which 30 per cent of beef scraps was added the death rate was only 25 per cent. The pens in this group showed a much more rapid gain in weight and vitality.

JUNIORS IN GAY CARNIVAL

Despite Inclement Weather, Hundreds Attended High School Fair

ASSEMBLY ROOM WAS TAXED

All the Booths and Side Shows Did a Flourishing Business

Now that the Junior Carnival is over, the Juniors can again breathe freely and ease their minds from the heavy weight of money matters! Despite the inclement weather, hundreds of people attended the affair and when the "main show" was given, the assembly was taxed to its capacity. Every number on the program was genuinely appreciated by the audience, some selections having to be given a second time.

All the booths and side-shows did a flourishing business, especially that of the main refreshment booth which was presided over by Eunice Johnson and Wally Engbretson. And oh, that beauty parlor! The Romaine girls, Marion and Nina, seemed to have beautified everyone at the carnival, even the black eyes did not have a damaging effect on the faces of the victims.

The people fairly flocked to see "Mr. and Mrs. Tom Thumb," in which the Misses Elizabeth Folsom, Gertrude Goedderz, Bernice White, Gladys McKenna, and Daisy Backen held full sway.

The main attraction up in the gym seemed to be the "Junior Melody Makers" orchestra, which occupied a beautifully decorated stage in the center of the floor. True to their form they fairly out did themselves in producing peppy music and when their tired fingers finally quit playing, the spell cast on the listeners was broken and as the hour was already late, most all were content to go home.

On every side, various attractions were heralded by the tooting of horns, squaking of balloons and shouting voices. Every fish was fished from Margaret Anderson's fish pond, while every kiss in the kissing parlor, kept by Aileen King disappeared as if by magic.

Marion Bachelder and Bee Murphy, in a tempting atmosphere of ham, eggs, bacon, etc., sold hot dogs and buns to a hungry crowd of revelers.

Albert Rathert in Jewish costume let people "ring" his sticks and gave them a souvenir card in exchange. His booth seemed to be the most attractive to the men and boys. Other attractions that were well patronized were the boxing match, China Town, Shadow Views, Toyland, Photograph Gallery, Trip to Mars Palm Reader, Japanese tea room.

Vernon Dieckhaus made a stern, august, yet kind judge, who let the offenders, brought in by Policeman, Mittie Bergstrand, off with comparatively small fines.

Everything was appropriately decorated and the confetti that was scattered far and wide, made it take on a truly festive appearance.

The class wishes to thank everyone that aided in any way, however small, to make the carnival the success that it was.

$2,000,000 HOTEL SOON TO BE BUILT

St. Paul, May 1—The Minnesota Hotel corporation has closed terms for a 99-year lease on the southwest corner of 6th and Sibley streets.

Although A. L. Reed, administrator of the estate, who handled the transaction, refused to detail plans for improvement, it became known that plans are already drafted for a 400-room hotel, which would cost more than $2,000,000.

The Minnesota Hotel corporation is incorporated under the laws of Delaware. Its officials refused to discuss their plans, but admit there will be a "large improvement program on the property, which is only two blocks from the St. Paul Union depot, and faces upon Smith park.

The property extends 125 feet on Sibley street, and 130 feet on 6th street.

Negotiations have been under way to obtain the lease for more than a year, it was revealed this morning.

CALENDAR FOR THE MAY TERM

District Court Will Open in Brainerd on Tuesday, May 6th

JUDGE STANTON ON BENCH

First Day Call of Calender, May 7 Citizenship Day, Trial of Jury Cases Starts May 9

Clerk of the District Court W. A. M. Johnstone, has completed the calendar for the May term of court, which opens on next Tuesday, May 6th, with Judge C. W. Stanton, of Bemidji, on the bench.

There will be no grand jury at this term of court, a fact which will save the county quite an expense. The county attorney will bring his cases to trial on information, filed with the clerk of court.

The first day of the May term will be given over to the call of the calendar, Wednesday, the second day, will be citizenship day, and the trial of jury cases will begin on Thursday, May 9th.

There are sixty-three civil cases on the calendar, nine of which are appeals. Fifteen criminal cases are slated in addition to those that will be tried on information. These include appeals and continued cases from the last term, of which there are twenty-two. Five tax cases complete the calendar.

It is planned to make the citizenship day an especially important event, since there are fifty-one applicants for naturalization. The program of the day is in the hands of W. A. M. Johnstone, general chairman. The civic organizations taking part include the American Legion, B. P. O. Elks, the local Lions club, and the Boy Scouts.

The American Legion has charge of an interesting program appropriate to the day. The Elks will present each newly-made citizen with a beautiful silk American flag. Attorney Mal Clark has been secured to make the presentation of these flags. The Lions club will serve the refreshments to the new citizens at the close of the program, assisted by eight members of the Boy Scouts.

PRISCILLA CIRCLE

Congregational Church Society Sponsoring William Dean Howell's Comedy, "Evening Dress"

The Priscilla Circle of the First Congregational church is sponsoring a play—one of William Dean Howell's delightful comedies—entitled "Evening Dress." To those who are familiar with Howells, the evening is a promised joy; to those who do not know him, it is an unexpected pleasure. He is so completely master of clever situations and sparkling wit that not a dull moment occurs.

As almost all men protest against the donning of dress suits, they should turn out to see a fellow sufferer; as all women know what persuasive arts they must use to get their men folks to wear the hated garments, they should come to learn another woman's tribulations.

Picture the tragic situation of a sleepy man who simply has to appear in a dress suit at a most important function in half an hour; and then visualize him in a desperate hunt for the dress suit which has vanished into the air. Add to that a helpful friend, a locked chiffonier, an ice pick, and a pretty maid, and you can guess the rest all except the most important question of all—where is the dress suit? You weep with the hero and laugh with the friend. The play is clever above any seen in a long time. The circle is taking this method of raising money instead of the traditional suppers of the other church circles, and hopes to be successful.

STOLE RIDE ON A FORD CAR

Sat Tight on Running Board Until He Fell Off at Down Town Corner

The police department reports the finding of Earl Wolleat, three-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Wolleat, 624 Eighth street, Northeast, which contains a record quite unusual for so small a child.

Earl stole a ride on the running board of his brother's Ford touring car, and succeeded in keeping his seat there from the home in Northeast Brainerd, down through the business district and to the corner of South Seventh and Oak streets, where he fell off as the car rounded the corner.

He was scratched about the face in the fall, but suffered no other injuries. Mrs. Arthur Hagberg, Jr., who lives near this intersection, picked the little fellow up, took him into her house and notified the police.

The remarkable part of the incident is that the boy directed the police from the south side of the city to his home, telling them just what turns to make, in a manner that would have done credit to a person who was well acquainted with the city.

The parents had discovered the boy's absence and had searching parties out looking for him when the police brought him home. The incident occurred about 8:30 o'clock this morning.

PRISCILLA CIRCLE

The Priscilla Circle of the First Congregational church is sponsoring a play—one of William Dean Howell's delightful comedies—entitled "Evening Dress." To those who are familiar with Howells, the evening is a promised joy; to those who do not know him, it is an unexpected pleasure. He is so completely master of clever situations and sparkling wit that not a dull moment occurs.

As almost all men protest against the donning of dress suits, they should turn out to see a fellow sufferer; as all women know what persuasive arts they must use to get their men folks to wear the hated garments, they should come to learn another woman's tribulations.

Picture the tragic situation of a sleepy man who simply has to appear in a dress suit at a most important function in half an hour; and then visualize him in a desperate hunt for the dress suit which has vanished into the air. Add to that a helpful friend, a locked chiffonier, an ice pick, and a pretty maid, and you can guess the rest all except the most important question of all—where is the dress suit? You weep with the hero and laugh with the friend. The play is clever above any seen in a long time. The circle is taking this method of raising money instead of the traditional suppers of the other church circles, and hopes to be successful.

TEN GOOD CARDS FOR OUTDOOR BOXING

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, May 1.—Promoters in arranging feature boxing matches for the outdoor season have the material for more good contests than can possibly be staged at a profit. Their problem is to select the "most natural" cards from the list, with the idea of quality more than quantity foremost in mind.

Som good lessons were learned from the experience of several promoters who figured that the public was interested enough and fortified so well financially that it would support any number of matches that could be arranged last summer.

Tom O'Rourke, in promoting a series of matches at the Polo Grounds that should have been attractive cards, lost more than $100,000, and his backers got their money back only by bringing in Tex Rickard to handle the Dempsey-Firpo fight.

O'Rourke overestimated the willingness of the public to support his boxing, and he failed to consider that boxing depends more for its support upon the little two-dollar and five-dollar fellows than upon the comparative few who are fixed so that they can toss away any number of $50 checks for their amusement.

Promoters must make the purses they offer star boxers proportionate to the top gate of the arena in which the bouts are held and they cannot convince the manager of any headliner that his boy will not pack any lot with a good opponent and a good card to back him up.

Having been shown that only an unusual contest will draw well enough to fill one of the larger arenas, such as the New York ball parks and the Jersey City stadium, promoters will not gamble on cards this year, but will select the cards they know will pay the purses guaranteed and leave enough in the box office to satisfy them for their time and for the risks they take.

There are ten cards that all the rival promoters will try to arrange for the coming season on the following list:

Jack Dempsey vs. Harry Wills
Luis Firpo vs. Harry Wills
Dempsey vs. Firpo
Tom Gibbons vs. Georges Carpentier
Gene Tunney vs. Mike McTigue
Harry Greb vs. Jack Delaney
Harry Greb vs. Mike McTigue
Benny Leonard vs. Mickey Walker
Abe Goldstein vs. Bud Taylor
Johnny Dundee vs. Sammy Mandell

Only four of these matches are so natural that a promoter, after making them, would feel that the weather was his only gamble. They are the three heavyweight fights mentioned and the Leonard-Walker bout for the welterweight championship.

ATHLETICS WILL MAKE TROUBLE FOR SOUTHPAWS

Boston, May 1.—The Philadelphia Athletics are going to make life miserable for many an American league southpaw this summer, if opposing managers elect to start left-handers against them.

With Jimmy Dykes playing second base, First Baseman Joe Hauser is the only left-handed hitter in the line-up. When Bishop is at second there are two such hitters.

The Boston Red Sox are liable to prove just as troublesome to port siders. Manager Lee Fohl can present a line-up with only two left-handed hitters.

Mack's outfield, made up of Simmons, Strand and Miller, present a trio of free swinging right-handers. They will bring dismay to the hearts of many an American league pitcher during the season.

DEMPSEY AND WILLS MATCHED FOR SEPT. 6TH

TEX RICKARD MADE ANNOUNCEMENT THIS AFTERNOON

ABANDONS NEGOTIATIONS FOR THE BULL OF THE PAMPAS

(By United Press)

New York, May 1.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, and Harry Wills, colored contender, will be matched to meet for the championship in Jersey City on Saturday afternoon, September 6th, Tex Rickard announced this afternoon.

Rickard said he had abandoned all negotiations with Luis Firpo, South American champion, for a fight with Wills and that he had become convinced Firpo is afraid of the negro heavyweight.

"Firpo is out of consideration. Wills is the only outstanding challenger for the championship and I have decided to match him with Dempsey in my Jersey City arena on September 6," Rickard said.

Vienna, May 1.—Georges Carpentier, French heavyweight, knocked out Arthur Townly, England, in the second round of a scheduled 20 round bout here today.

FACES SPITTER FOR FIRST TIME, MAKES BASE HIT

New York, May 1.—Earl Combs, high-priced Yankee recruit, made his American debut the other day as a pinch hitter. He hit safely.

Combs made his first big league base hit under unusual conditions. It was delivered at the expense of Jack Quinn, veteran spitter of the Boston Red Sox.

Incidentally, it was the first time Combs ever batted against the spitball delivery. However, the spitball apparently bothers him no more than the fast one or curve.

Combs has played professionally only two years, both in the American association. The spitball delivery is not permitted in that organization.

LEWIS CLARK OF JOHNS HOPKINS BEATS LIDDELL, BRITISH CHAMPION, IN 200 YARD DASH AT PENN RELAY MEET

After winning his heat in the fast time of 21 4-5 seconds, Eric Liddell, the little Scotch sprinter, was defeated by a yard and a half in the final by Clark, whose time was 1-5 of a second faster. This was Liddell's first race in America. The photograph shows the finish of a furlong sprint.

Cvengros, Sox Twirler, Leaves Game; Fined $200

Detroit, Mich., May 1.—As a result of deliberately leaving a game here Saturday, when the Detroit team had made five runs off his delivery, Mike Cvengros, White Sox pitcher, drew a fine of $200.

John Evers assessed this against the pitcher, because he refused to pitch any longer, leaving the game, and proceeding to the Sox hotel here.

Why Girls With Yellow Teeth Are Unpopular

You have always longed for flashing white teeth. And now, at last you can have them—easily, quickly and safely! For scientists have discovered a remarkable new treatment which often in only three minutes bleaches dull, dingy discolorations from the teeth, leaving them clear, sparkling white and lustrous. This new treatment, called Bleachodent Combination, consists of a mild safe liquid and a new kind of paste. The liquid curdles and softens the stains, while the paste removes them, and if used daily prevents the formation of future stains. You simply brush teeth with a few drops of the liquid—then use the paste. Almost before you realize it, unsightly surface stains disappear and the teeth take on a dazzling new whiteness and lustre. First application usually leaves teeth whiter than with ten times the scouring by old-fashioned methods. Bleachodent Combination is harmless—does not affect enamel as its mild ingredients are intended to act only on surface stains—not on enamel itsel. Especially beneficial for children's teeth which stain easily. Get Bleachodent Combination today for a few cents. Be sure you ask for Bleachodent Combination. At all good dealers.—Advt.

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once, with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.—Adt

TEN GOOD CARDS FOR OUTDOOR BOXING

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, May 1.—Promoters in arranging feature boxing matches for the outdoor season have the material for more good contests than can possibly be staged at a profit. Their problem is to select the "most natural" cards from the list, with the idea of quality more than quantity foremost in mind.

Som good lessons were learned from the experience of several promoters who figured that the public was interested enough and fortified so well financially that it would support any number of matches that could be arranged last summer.

Tom O'Rourke, in promoting a series of matches at the Polo Grounds that should have been attractive cards, lost more than $100,000, and his backers got their money back only by bringing in Tex Rickard to handle the Dempsey-Firpo fight.

O'Rourke overestimated the willingness of the public to support his boxing, and he failed to consider that boxing depends more for its support upon the little two-dollar and five-dollar fellows than upon the comparative few who are fixed so that they can toss away any number of $50 checks for their amusement.

Promoters must make the purses they offer star boxers proportionate to the top gate of the arena in which the bouts are held and they cannot convince the manager of any headliner that his boy will not pack any lot with a good opponent and a good card to back him up.

Having been shown that only an unusual contest will draw well enough to fill one of the larger arenas, such as the New York ball parks and the Jersey City stadium, promoters will not gamble on cards this year, but will select the cards they know will pay the purses guaranteed and leave enough in the box office to satisfy them for their time and for the risks they take.

There are ten cards that all the rival promoters will try to arrange for the coming season on the following list:

Jack Dempsey vs. Harry Wills
Luis Firpo vs. Harry Wills
Dempsey vs. Firpo
Tom Gibbons vs. Georges Carpentier
Gene Tunney vs. Mike McTigue
Harry Greb vs. Jack Delaney
Harry Greb vs. Mike McTigue
Benny Leonard vs. Mickey Walker
Abe Goldstein vs. Bud Taylor
Johnny Dundee vs. Sammy Mandell

Only four of these matches are so natural that a promoter, after making them, would feel that the weather was his only gamble. They are the three heavyweight fights mentioned and the Leonard-Walker bout for the welterweight championship.

ATHLETICS WILL MAKE TROUBLE FOR SOUTHPAWS

Boston, May 1.—The Philadelphia Athletics are going to make life miserable for many an American league southpaw this summer, if opposing managers elect to start left-handers against them.

With Jimmy Dykes playing second base, First Baseman Joe Hauser is the only left-handed hitter in the line-up. When Bishop is at second there are two such hitters.

The Boston Red Sox are liable to prove just as troublesome to port siders. Manager Lee Fohl can present a line-up with only two left-handed hitters.

Mack's outfield, made up of Simmons, Strand and Miller, present a trio of free swinging right-handers. They will bring dismay to the hearts of many an American league pitcher during the season.

Brainerd plays Long Prairie Saturday, May 3, at the Koering Field. This is the first home game of the year for the locals.

Brainerd has one of the peppiest bunch of players since baseball started two years ago.

The school is out to back the team to the last man, so let's go, Saturday, 3 P. M., May 3.

Line-up will be given later.

Admission, 10c and 25c.

DEMPSEY AND WILLS MATCHED FOR SEPT. 6TH

TEX RICKARD MADE ANNOUNCEMENT THIS AFTERNOON

ABANDONS NEGOTIATIONS FOR THE BULL OF THE PAMPAS

(By United Press)

New York, May 1.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, and Harry Wills, colored contender, will be matched to meet for the championship in Jersey City on Saturday afternoon, September 6th, Tex Rickard announced this afternoon.

Rickard said he had abandoned all negotiations with Luis Firpo, South American champion, for a fight with Wills and that he had become convinced Firpo is afraid of the negro heavyweight.

"Firpo is out of consideration. Wills is the only outstanding challenger for the championship and I have decided to match him with Dempsey in my Jersey City arena on September 6," Rickard said.

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once, with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.—Adt
